SUMMARY

Effective problem solver and an excellent communicator with over 5 years of experience in the tech industry. Passionate about producing optimized code for readability, efficiency, and performance. Highly organized with years of experience organizing and designating work based on product requirements, often outside of the frontend department, helping to drive projects forward, while also contributing to the efficiency of the agile processes of the team. I focused on self-study and continuous learning on my way to becoming a full-stack developer.
